Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Investment Objective and Strategies

Investment Objective: Fidelity U.S. Monthly Income Fund (Fund) aims to achieve a combination of a steady flow of income and the potential for capital gains. It invests primarily in a mix of U.S. income-producing securities. Income-producing securities may include, but are not limited to, common and preferred shares, investment-grade fixed income securities, higher yielding, lower quality fixed income securities, U.S. dollar denominated foreign fixed income securities, real estate investment trusts (REITs) and other real estate-related securities, convertible securities, emerging market debt securities, and floating rate debt instruments. The Fund can invest in these securities either directly, or indirectly through investments in underlying funds.

Strategies: The Fund's neutral mix is approximately 50% exposure to equity securities and 50% exposure to fixed income securities. These securities can be U.S. or non-U.S., but at least 70% of the Fund's neutral mix is a guideline and can change in reaction to, or in anticipation of, market changes. The Fund's exposure to equity and fixed income securities may vary by up to +/-20% from the neutral mix if the portfolio management team believes this produces the best overall return.

When buying and selling equity securities, the portfolio managers examine each company's potential for success based on its current financial condition and industry position, as well as economic and market conditions. The portfolio managers focus primarily on a company's financial stability, potential to generate sustainable return on equity over time, and valuation during their analysis. The portfolio managers invest in companies they believe are undervalued in the marketplace based on factors such as the company's assets, sales, earnings, growth potential or cash flow, or position relative to other companies in the same industry.

The Fund may hold cash, invest in China A-Shares and may invest in fixed income securities of any quality or term. When buying and selling fixed income securities, the portfolio managers analyze each security's features, its current price compared to its estimated long-term value, the credit quality of the issuer, and any short-term trading opportunities resulting from market inefficiencies. An analysis of credit quality will consider the balance sheet strength of the issuer, company leverage ratios, stability of income, management strength and track record, and risks to the issuer that may impair its ability to meet its obligations to debt holders. The Fund may also invest its assets in securities of other funds, including funds managed by Fidelity and exchange-traded funds (ETFs) managed by third parties, in accordance with its investment objective.

Risk

The risks associated with investing in this Fund remain as discussed in the prospectus. Any changes to the Fund over the period have not affected the overall level of risk of the Fund.

The Fund is suitable for medium- to long-term investors who want to gain exposure to both U.S. equity and U.S. fixed income securities, want the potential for both income and capital gains, want the convenience of a diversified portfolio in a single fund, and can handle the volatility of returns generally associated with equity investments. The Fund is not an appropriate investment for investors with a short-term investment horizon. To invest in the Fund, investors should be willing to accept a low to medium level of risk. The suitability of the investment has not changed from what has been disclosed in the prospectus.

Results of Operations

Fidelity U.S. Monthly Income Fund, Series B, returned 12.3%, after fees and expenses, for the year ended June 30, 2024. The net returns of the other series of the Fund are similar to those of Series B, except for differences attributable to expense structures. During the review period, U.S. Equities, as represented by the S&P 500 Index, returned 28.8% (in Canadian dollar terms) and U.S. Fixed Income, as represented by the Bloomberg U.S. Aggregate Bond Index, returned 6.1% (in Canadian dollar terms).

Market overview:

U.S. equities, as measured by the S&P 500 Index, returned 28.8% in Canadian dollar terms and 24.6% in U.S. dollar terms, for the one-year period ended June 30, 2024.

U.S. equities rose during the review period on the back of strong corporate earnings, persistent economic growth, and a potential peak in the interest rate hiking cycle. Select beneficiaries of developments in the artificial intelligence space, primarily in the communication services and information technology sectors, also contributed to gains. The continued strength in the U.S. economy and persistent inflation above the Federal Reserve's (the Fed) 2% target, however, led investors to lower their expectations for the magnitude of the Fed's rate cuts in 2024. The Fed's preferred measure of inflation, the core personal consumption expenditures index, came in at 2.8% for April on annual basis, while inflation as measured by the consumer price index, remained persistent at 3.3% in May. The labour market was also strong, with some signs of a potential slowdown towards the end of the review period. The U.S. economy created 272,000 new jobs in May (U.S. Nonfarm Payrolls), exceeding economists' estimates and defying observations that the labour market could be cooling off. Meanwhile, the unemployment rate rose slightly to 4.0% in May, from 3.9% in April 2024, ending a 27-month streak of unemployment below 4%. The U.S. Federal Open Markets Committee held the Federal Funds rate unchanged at 5.25%—5.50% in its May 2024 policy meeting.

U.S. investment-grade bonds, as broadly represented by the Bloomberg U.S. Aggregate Bond Index, returned 6.1% in Canadian dollar terms and 2.6% in U.S. dollar terms, for the one-year period ended June 30, 2024.

U.S. investment-grade bonds advanced in Canadian and U.S. dollar terms over the period under review. High yield bonds outperformed their investment-grade peers, benefitting from higher yields and tighter credit spreads. After a sharp decline in November and December 2023, the 10-year U.S. treasury yield demonstrated an overall upward trend until April 2024, followed by a gradual decline for the remainder of the review period. Despite U.S. inflation easing over the review period, with annual headline inflation at 3.4% in April 2024, the U.S. Federal Reserve (the Fed) continued to hold its benchmark interest rate in a range of 5.25%—5.50%. While the Fed acknowledged that inflationary pressures have moderated, they also noted that current inflation readings remained elevated, with economic activity and job gains continuing to expand. With that, a sense of caution prevailed among market participants as the labour market continued to adjust, and geopolitical tensions weighed on investor sentiment.

Factors affecting performance:

The Fund's benchmark returned 12.2% for the review period. This blended benchmark is composed of 40.0% Russell 3000 Value Index, 31.0% Bloomberg U.S. Aggregate Bond Index, 12.0% ICE BofA U.S. High Yield Constrained Index, 7.0% FTSE NAREIT Equity REITs Index, 5.0% ICE BofA All U.S. Convertibles Index, and 5.0% J.P. Morgan Emerging Markets Bond Index Global Diversified Index.

The Fund outperformed its benchmark, primarily due to investments in U.S. dividend-paying equities, as well as lower-than-benchmark exposure to, and investments in, U.S. investment-grade bonds. In contrast, out-of-benchmark exposure to long-term U.S. treasuries, and investments in U.S. real estate investment trusts (REITs), detracted from relative returns.

Portfolio changes:

Portfolio managers David Wolf and David Tulk maintained a lower-than-benchmark exposure to U.S. investment-grade bonds through Fidelity U.S. Bond Multi-Asset Base Fund to take advantage of Fidelity's capabilities in several higher yielding fixed-income asset classes, including high-yield commercial mortgage-backed securities (CMBS) and floating rate loans.

The Fund has a modestly underweight exposure to global real estate equities in favour of tactical exposure to Fidelity U.S. High Dividend ETF, leaving overall equity exposure modestly overweight relative to the benchmark. In addition, the Fund continues to hold a tactical position in a gold ETF, for its inflation-protection properties.

During the review period, the portfolio managers increased exposure to U.S. dividend-paying equities while reducing exposure to U.S. investment-grade bonds, based on what the managers believed to be relatively better risk/reward opportunities. The Fund also exited positions in U.S. Treasury Inflation-Protected Securities (TIPS).

Recent Developments

Portfolio managers David Wolf and David Tulk observe that economic activity remains robust within developed markets, despite some early signs of slowing due to tighter financial conditions. However, Canada has shown anemic growth. Although the effects of heightened productivity may not be immediately discernible, advancements in artificial intelligence, coupled with the ongoing prevalence of remote work arrangements, have likely contributed to productivity gains, in the portfolio managers' view. With headline inflation continuing to moderate, the portfolio managers note that that central banks may not feel the need to maintain such stringent monetary policy. We have already seen Europe and Canada take the first step in cutting their policy interest rates. The portfolio managers believe that a debate remains on how many interest rate cuts will happen, and when, but the direction of monetary policy is likely to be towards loosening. Against this backdrop, the portfolio managers have become more constructive, but continue to hold certain allocations that, in their view, may provide some defense in a multi-asset portfolio. The traditional method of holding bonds for diversification remains unreliable with the correlation between stocks and bonds continuing to be positive. In their view, constructing portfolios that are well-diversified across asset classes, styles and regions is the right way to both protect and grow capital over the long run.

Effective September 19, 2023, Anne Bell of Mississauga, Ontario, became a member of the Independent Review Committee (IRC).

Cross-Trading and In specie Transactions

The Fund received the approval and standing instructions from the IRC in order to:

- (ii) permit the Fund, in certain circumstances, to purchase and redeem Fund securities in consideration for securities rather than cash of another investment fund not governed by NI 81-102, or a separately managed account, managed by Fidelity.

For each of the transactions in (i) and (ii) above, the IRC's standing instructions require Fidelity to act in accordance with its associated policies and procedures and applicable law, and comply with the conditions in each of the exemptive relief orders received, which, in the case of cross-trading, requires additional periodic reporting to the Ontario Securities Commission. The standing instructions also require that investment decisions in respect of these transactions (a) are free from any influence by an entity related to Fidelity and without taking into account any consideration relevant to an entity related to Fidelity; (b) represent the business judgment of Fidelity uninfluenced by considerations other than the best interests of the Fund; (c) comply with the applicable policies and procedures of Fidelity; and (d) achieve a fair and reasonable result for the Fund.

Financial Highlights Footnotes

- A This information is derived from the Fund's audited annual and/or unaudited interim financial statements. The net assets attributable to securityholders per security presented in the financial statements may differ from the net asset value calculated for fund pricing purposes. An explanation of these differences can be found in the notes to financial statements.
- B Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of securities outstanding at the relevant time. The increase (decrease) from operations is based on the weighted average number of securities outstanding over the financial period. This table is not intended to be a reconciliation of beginning to ending net assets per security.
- Distributions were paid in cash or reinvested in additional securities of the Fund, or both, and excludes any applicable distributions of management fee reduction to securityholders. Distributions are presented based on management's best estimate of the tax character.
- This information is provided as at period end of the year shown.
- Prior period amounts may have been adjusted.
- Management expense ratio is based on total expenses (excluding distributions, commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset values during the period, including the Fund's pro-rata share of estimated expenses incurred in any underlying investment fund, if applicable, (2024: .01%, 2023: .01%, 2022: .01%, 2020: .01%).
- 6 Effective November 1, 2014, the manager of the Fund has waived a portion of its administration fee and as of the date of the MRFP has continued to provide the Fund with such waivers. The manager may terminate the waiver at any time, at its sole discretion. It is not known when such waivers will be terminated.
- He trading expense ratio represents total commissions, other portfolio transaction costs and dividends and interest expense on securities sold short expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period, including the Fund's pro-rata share of estimated trading costs incurred in any underlying investment fund, if applicable.
- The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high portfolio turnover rate and the performance of the Fund. The portfolio turnover rate is calculated based on the lesser of purchases or sales of securities divided by the weighted average market value of portfolio securities owned by the Fund, excluding short-term securities. The portfolio turnover rate includes any proceeds from a short sale in the value of sales of securities and the cost of covering a short sale in the value of purchases of securities. For periods greater than six months, but less than a full fiscal year, the portfolio turnover rate is annualized. The portfolio turnover rate excludes any adjustment for in-kind transactions.
- Effective October 1, 2015, the manager of the Fund has waived a portion of its administration fee and as of the date of the MRFP has continued to provide the Fund with such waivers. The manager may terminate the waiver at any time, at its sole discretion. It is not known when such waivers will be terminated.

Management and Advisory Fees

Fidelity serves as manager and investment advisor of the Fund. The Fund pays Fidelity a monthly management and advisory fee for its services, based on the net asset value of each Series, calculated daily and payable monthly. Fidelity uses these management fees to pay for sales and trailing commissions to registered dealers on the distribution of the Fund securities, as well as for the general investment management expenses. Dealer compensation represents cash commissions paid by Fidelity to registered dealers during the period and includes upfront deferred sales charge and trailing commissions. This amount may, in certain circumstances, exceed 100% of the fees earned by Fidelity during the period.
